

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5       An optical configuration that provides tunable characteristics. The tunable characteristics are applicable, for example, for channel monitoring, dispersion compensation and polarization-dependent loss. A passive optical element is used where the optical properties of this element varies as a
10   function of position on the element.

15

20

25

30

35